Key Macro software makes it easy to record all your typing. Simply create a custom shortcut and assign it a keyboard shortcut. Key Macros are also stored in the Registry for future reference. A reference list will show you all the keystrokes used to do common tasks in the software. There are two options to create Key Macros. One is the simple shortcut method, where a user chooses a keyboard shortcut and then the Key Macros icon is clicked. This opens the Key Macro pane where the user can assign a name, a description, the keyboard shortcut they want and the trigger to activate the Key Macro. Key Macros can be stored as a .reg file, which is a text file that you can open with any text editor. Key Macros can be used with any program, but can only be stored in the registry for programs that support the registry. This includes all Microsoft products.
