A: I am not sure about the specifics of this file format, but if you do not have any control over the server that the PDF is coming from, I would recommend downloading a program like PDFCreator that converts PDF's to editable Word and OpenOffice documents. Then you could use Sublime Text to search for the specific text that you are looking for and copy the formatting. Q: String.contains not working I am trying to create a string that checks if both the classes are equal but also checks if the strings are equal: if (reType.equals("Australian")){ if (country.contains("Australia")){ country.setText("Aus"); reType.setText("Australian"); }else if(country.contains("GB") || country.contains("UK")){ country.setText("UK"); reType.setText("British"); }else{ country.setText("other"); reType.setText("other"); } I am trying to compare and set what text the two labels hold, but on the if statement I get an error stating that I can't compare strings for equality. Any ideas? A: contains only checks if the given string is contained within the given String object. You need to search through the entire country String object: if (reType.equals("Australian")){ if (country.contains("Australian") || country.contains("GB") || country.contains("UK")){ country.setText("UK"); reType.setText("British
